In a Moment of Anger Announced His Candidacy.

He May -row Portentous on Account of a Revulsion of Public Sen timent-Glared at an Irreverent Reporter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8.-This has been one of Admiral Dewey's uncommunicative days. He has talked some, but has not said anything new. When the reporters descended him, for want of anything better to ask about, they quiezed him as to whether he is really a Democrat, and he reassured them on that point. One reporter, irreverent and experienced, asked him if he would accept the vice presidential nomination. The admiral glared at him and said: "I won't talk about

The man who converted Montejo's feet into cheap junk said that he would have his statement ready in a few days, Remembering how he offended some reporters when he announced his candidacy, he made particular inquiries as to how he might place his views in all the newspapers without undergoing the ordeal of seeing a representative of each paper. He had discovered that the weekly papers have no telegraphic service, and he was anxious to reach them, but he did not feel able to see the Washington correspondent of each,

Dewey May Grow Portentous.

A feeling has spread among the poli-ticians that the ridicule many public men and newspapers are heaping on the head of the politically finnocent admiral may cause a revulsion of public sentiment to such an extent that his candidacy may, after all, become some thing for them to worry about. They recall the fact that, after the storm on account of the house incident. there was a reaction which was setting public opinion in the admiral's direction up to the time he broke out his presidential pennant. A reaction of that kind, at its height during the delegate electing, they fear might make trouble for the managers of either or both par-

"I am not worrying," said Senator Hanna this afternoon. "I have not expressed any opinion on the admiral's andidacy, and I don't intend to. I said he is not my candidate, and that's the end of it, so far as 1 am concerned."

Naval officers on duty here do not be lieve the admiral is backed by the Gold Democratic leaders. They think he was piqued into the position he has taken by editorial written by St. Clair Mc Kelway, editor of the Brooklyn Eagle and published on Monday, in which McKelway argued that Dewey is not fit to be President.

It was brought to the attention of the admiral on Tuesday. He stormed up and down in true sailor fashion. That night he sent his announcement to the New York paper that he believes first mentioned him for the presidency when his communication was altogether un-Monday afternoon the admiral and

"Oh, you fellows get out," he claimed, making a grimace as if the idea were repugnant to him. That was twenty-eight hours before he kaunched his boom. The naval officers, putting all these things together, are of the opinion that, in a fit of pique, he deided to show McKelway that he not only fit, but that he can get the Matters of Interest in the Metropolis of Belmont County.

The suicide of Fred Degrote, of the firm of Meyer & Degrote, last Saturday was a great surpris; and shock o this community. He was a quiet man, who attended strictly to his own business and was getting on fairly well in the world, but he had troubles the world knew little or nothing about and he did not mingle with outsiders enough to share and be shared with in his sortows. He was a frail creature, not despondent nor yet buoyant, and fust at suicide of Fred Degrote, of the ndent ner yet buoyant, and just at the moment when he seemed least like-ly to give way, he retired to a little back building from his place of business and writing a note to his business partner asking him not to blame any one and to see that his wife and two children were cared for, he concluded by saying he was disgusted with the world. Then a bullet plerced his brain—he flew to the lils he knew not of rather than hear those he had—and he is gone forever. He was not 40 years of age and had lived almost the life of a recluse. Sving attention only to his business and his famil; since his marriage. The wife is, of course, prostrated. The fuberal will occur to-day.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Features of the Money and Stock Markets.

NEW YORK, April 7.-The specula tive enthusiasm for an advance in prices of securities received a decided shock in the showing made by the clearing house banks in their weekly statement to-day. The buying demand statement to-day. The buying demand fell away, and stocks came upon the market at declining prices. The most important part of the earlier gains were wiped out, and the market closed unsettled and irregular, prices moving in contrary directions in different parts of the list, and not changes being much fixed. The short seasion thus ended began auspiciously enough under the influence of renewed buying orders from abroad, which were said to have their source in Holland. Bull pools resumed their operations in various stocks and the continued strength in Sugar gave tone to the industrial list. Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio preferred, Missouri Paclific and Chesapeake & Ohio were conspicuous examples of strength. The list promptly gave way upon the appearance of the bank statement on the tape. Preliminary estimates of the gain in cash had placed it from four million to six million dollars. Operations with the sub-treasury alone furnished an increase of $4,000,000 to the banks. Wall street is in the dark as to what drain on the banks' resources has so far offest this advantage as to bring the cash increase down to $1,735, 400. It was also expected that the continued liquidation of loans on account of holders of government bonds who have been selling them to realize on the advance in prices would offest the explanation of loans on account of stock market transactions to a large extent. The large realizing of speculative profits in the stock market was indicative also of a paying off of loans to some extent. The street was wholly unprepared for a large increase in loans, which showed the enormous expansion of $12,954,300. This served to swell the reserve requirements to the extent of $3,585,750, and the cash increase form other sources. Breadstuffs and Provisions.

CHICAGO—A report was current on 'change to-day that some influential longs were ready to disgorge their cora holdings. This was an influence in the grain markets, which were easier. Fear of a squeeze in ribs was potent in the hog produce pit, the closing being from Eye improved in pork and lard to 19c higher in ribs. May corn closed steady at 169% lower, May wheat weak at 14 60% c down and May onts easier at a loss from yesterday of 1%c.

Corn opened weak, but found some friends after a concession of about 1½c from yesterday's closing figures. They held it up, and gradually forced it up a shade over yesterday. But they were not strong enough to hold the advantage. There was a bearish element at work in the pit, and considerably emboldened by the report that certain heavy longs were ready to reap their harvest of profits, brought considerable pressure to the selling side. There were those who thought the market was much too broad to be influenced by a single heavy speculator, or even a coterio of them, one student of the situation remarking that the great American steer and hog were running the corn deal this season. Some reports made country acceptances over night freer, while others said the farmers were still disposed to keep the coarse grain in their own cribs. Liverpool was lower for futures, but firm for spot. Baltimor reported 250,000 bushels accepted by the other side. Loerpool was lower for futures, but frm for spot. Baltimore reported 250,000 bushels accepted by the other side. Local exporters reported foreign bids away out of line. Primary receipts were 649,000 bushels, compared with 318,000 bushels, a year ago. Atlantic port clearances were 674,000 bushels. Raceipts here were 362 cars. May opened 14c to %c down at 391,640c; advanced to 40%c, and then reacted to 37%c, closing steady, %694c down at 395,640c.
